CLEARINGHOUSE RULE 26-022

Comments

[NOTE: All citations to “Manual” in the comments below are to the Administrative Rules Procedures Manual, prepared by the Legislative Council Staff and the Legislative Reference Bureau, dated November 2020.]

1. Statutory Authority

In the “Statutes interpreted” section of the rule analysis, should additional statutes be listed? The proposed rule interprets s. 440.071 (1), Stats., which only relates to pre-examination postsecondary education or other program requirements, but the proposed rule removes requirements related to experience and arrest and conviction records, in addition to requirements related to postsecondary education. For example, consider adding ss. 470.03 (1), 470.04, and 470.05, Stats.

2. Form, Style and Placement in Administrative Code

Consider whether an initial applicability clause should be included, because the proposed rule modifies an existing application process. [s. 1.03 (3), Manual.]

5. Clarity, Grammar, Punctuation and Use of Plain Language

a. In the “Plain language analysis” section of the rule analysis, consider explaining the proposed rule’s additional changes that are not related to bringing the rule into compliance with s. 440.071 (1), Stats. As noted above, the proposed rule also removes pre-examination requirements related to experience and arrest and conviction records, which are not addressed in s. 440.071 (1), Stats. The plain language analysis makes it clear that those aspects continue to apply as licensure requirements, and are only uncoupled in the proposed rule from the pre-examination requirements. However, those aspects are outside the scope of s. 440.071 (1), Stats., and are in the board’s discretion as pre-examination requirements. Consider explaining the board’s reasoning for the policy change, which removes licensure requirements related to experience and arrest and conviction records from affecting examination eligibility. For example, could there be circumstances where it would be helpful to determine, prior to examination, whether an applicant’s arrest or conviction record would bar licensure? Or, do other considerations favor removing all pre-examination requirements?

b. In SECTIONS 1, 3, and 6 of the proposed rule, consider revising the grammatical structure of the inserted text. For example, each sentence describing the fundamentals examination could state that: “The fundamentals examination is required to test an applicant’s understanding...”. This applies to the sentence describing the principles and practice examination as well.

Comments

1. Statutory Authority

For example, consider adding ss. 470.03 (1), 470.04, and 470.05, Stats.

This comment can be a bit confusing or misleading, because the rule is not completely removing the requirements for experience and arrest and conviction records. It is only removing them as pre-examination requirements. As we have discussed in the past, the experience requirements are still present in the statutes at 470.04\(2\)\(c\), 470.04\(3\)\(c\), and 470.04\(4\)\(c\). The arrest and conviction records requirements are still present in the statutes at 470.04\(2\)\(a\), (3) (a), and (4) (a).

I would still recommend accepting the comment and it is an easy edit. All I did was add more statutory citations in the Statutes Interpreted.

2. Form, Style and Placement in Administrative Code

Consider whether an initial applicability clause should be included, because the proposed rule modifies an existing application process. [s. 1.03 (3), Manual.]

This is a good question for the board and the sections to discuss. Completely up to you if you want to accept or reject this.

In general, rules that change application requirements are done with some kind of delayed effective date or initial applicability clause. This is done so that the rule doesn’t interfere with applications that are currently in progress. However, this rule change is a fairly minor change (only removing pre-exam requirements). Theoretically, it shouldn’t interfere with applications that are in progress.

5. Clarity, Grammar, Punctuation and Use of Plain Language

a. In the “Plain language analysis” section of the rule analysis, consider explaining the proposed rule’s additional changes that are not related to bringing the rule into compliance with 1.

440.071 (1), Stats. As noted above, the proposed rule also removes pre-examination requirements related to experience and arrest and conviction records, which are not addressed in s. 440.071 (1), Stats. The plain language analysis makes it clear that those aspects continue to apply as licensure requirements, and are only uncoupled in the proposed rule from the pre-examination requirements. However, those aspects are outside the scope of s. 440.071 (1), Stats., and are in the board's discretion as pre-examination requirements. Consider explaining the board's reasoning for the policy change, which removes licensure requirements related to experience and arrest and conviction records from affecting examination eligibility. For example, could there be circumstances where it would be helpful to determine, prior to examination, whether an applicant's arrest or conviction record would bar licensure? Or, do other considerations favor removing all pre-examination requirements?

Good question for the board and the sections to discuss. All the comment is asking for is to add a couple sentences to the plain language analysis, explaining the policy decision.

To their question in the very last sentence, I think the board's answer after discussion at the last meeting was something like: "yes, other considerations favor removing all pre-examination requirements. The board would like to streamline and increase efficiency of credentialling. The board believes an applicant should be allowed to take the examinations whenever they feel ready, not after a certain number of years of experience or education. The board is also making this decision in line with many other professions that made the same decision in response to s. 440.071 (1), Stats. For example, the A-E professions (architects, engineers, etc.) also made the decision to remove all pre-examination requirements in this fashion."

I added a bit of this to the plain language analysis as a proposed response. As always, let me know with any comments, opinions, if anyone doesn't agree or would like a different approach to how to respond.

b. In SECTIONS 1, 3, and 6 of the proposed rule, consider revising the grammatical structure of the inserted text. For example, each sentence describing the fundamentals examination could state that: “The fundamentals examination is required to test an applicant’s understanding...”. This applies to the sentence describing the principles and practice examination as well.

To this comment, this is just my personal opinion, but I actually like the original language a lot more. The original language is in active voice and uses less words to express the same idea. Their proposed edit is in passive voice and uses more words. Also, the original language is exactly as it is in current code. (GHSS 2.06\(2\) and other places)

It is completely up to the sections and the board if you want to accept their comment and make the change, or reject the comment and keep the original language.

HYDROLOGISTS AND SOIL	:	SCIENTISTS ADOPTING RULES

PROPOSED ORDER

A proposed order of the Examining Board of Professional Geologists, Hydrologists, and Soil Scientists to repeal GHSS 2.06 (2) and (3), 3.05 (2) and (3), and 4.05 (2) and (3); and to amend GHSS 2.06 (1), 3.05 (1), 4.02 (Note), 4.05 (1), and 4.06 (10) (Note) relating to Licensure and Examinations.

Analysis prepared by the Department of Safety and Professional Services.

ANALYSIS

Statutes interpreted:

Sections 440.071 (1), 470.03 (1), 470.04, and 470.05, Stats.

Statutory authority:

Sections 15.08 (5) (b), 227.11 (2) (a), and 470.03 (1) (a) to (c), Stats.

Explanation of agency authority:

Section 15.08 (5) (b), Stats., provides that each examining board “[s]hall promulgate rules for its own guidance and for the guidance of the trade or profession to which it pertains, and define and enforce professional conduct and unethical practices not inconsistent with the law relating to the particular trade or profession.”

Section 227.11 (2) (a), Stats., provides that “[e]ach agency may promulgate rules interpreting the provisions of any statute enforced or administered by the agency, if the agency considers it necessary to effectuate the purpose of the statute, but a rule is not valid if the rule exceeds the bounds of correct interpretation.”

Section 470.03 (1) (a) to (c), Stats., state that the examining board shall: (a) “[u]pon the advice of the professional geologist section, promulgate rules establishing requirements and standards for the practice of professional geology by a person who is licensed as a professional geologist under this chapter, including a code of ethics that governs the practice of professional geology.

(b) Upon the advice of the professional hydrologist section, promulgate rules establishing requirements and standards for the practice of professional hydrology by a person who is licensed as a professional hydrologist under this chapter, including a code of ethics that governs the practice of professional hydrology.

(c) Upon the advice of the professional soil scientist section, promulgate rules establishing requirements and standards for the practice of professional soil science by a person who is licensed as a professional soil scientist under this chapter, including a code of ethics that governs the practice of professional soil science.”

Related statute or rule:

Section 440.071 (1), Stats.

Plain language analysis:

The objective of the proposed rule is to update the administrative code of the Examining Board of Professional Geologists, Hydrologists, and Soil Scientists to bring it into compliance with s. 440.071 (1), Stats. This statute prohibits credentialing boards from requiring a person to complete postsecondary education before the person is eligible to take an examination for a credential. Current GHSS code contains experience, education, and examination requirements to apply for licensure as a geologist, hydrologist, or soil scientist. The basics of these requirements are set by statute and are given details and specifics in the GHSS code.

Current GHSS code states various pre-examination requirements that applicants must complete before being allowed to take licensure exams. The proposed rule repeals these pre-examination requirements. In general, the pre-examination requirements being repealed are simply requirements that an applicant has reached a certain point in their education and experience requirements. Overall, applicants must complete all of these education and experience requirements anyway. The rule does not lower the level of qualifications for licensure as a geologist, hydrologist, or soil scientist. It simply changes the timing, so applicants are able to take licensure exams before their education and experience requirements are substantially completed, if they wish. The board would like to streamline and increase efficiency of credentialing, and for this reason the board has decided to remove all pre-examination requirements. The board believes an applicant should be allowed to take the exams whenever they feel ready, not after a certain number of years of experience or education. The board is making this decision in line with many other licensed professions that made the same decision in response to s. 440.071 (1), Stats.

Proposed edit in response to Clearinghouse comment 5.a. is above. As always, let me know with any questions, opinions, or if anyone wants to take a different approach.

Summary of, and comparison with, existing or proposed federal regulation:

None.

Summary of public comments received on statement of scope:

None.

Comparison with rules in adjacent states:

Illinois:

The Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation is responsible for the licensure and regulation of professional geologists. It does require that to take the geologists' licensing exam, an applicant must complete a bachelor's or graduate degree in a geology educational program [Illinois Administrative Code Title 68 Chapter VII Subchapter b Part 1252 Section 1252.20]. Illinois does not require licensure for professional hydrologists or professional soil scientists.

Iowa:

Iowa does not require licensure of professional geologists, hydrologists, or soil scientists. However, they do require certification as a "certified groundwater professional" for any person who provides subsurface soil contamination and groundwater consulting services, or who contracts to perform or who supervises remediation or corrective action services at leaking underground storage tank sites [567 Iowa Administrative Code 134.1 to 134.5]. There are many different pathways to acquiring this certification, with some that do require post-secondary education before taking an examination, and some that do not.

Michigan:

Michigan does not require licensure of professional geologists, hydrologists, or soil scientists.

Minnesota:

The Minnesota Board of Architects, Engineers, Surveyors, Landscape Architects, Geoscientists, and Interior Designers is responsible for the licensure and regulation of geoscientists, among other professions. The Minnesota Board currently recognizes geology and soil science as geoscience disciplines [Minnesota Administrative Rules Part 1800.3900]. The Minnesota Board does require completion of postsecondary education before an applicant is eligible to take a licensing exam [Minnesota Administrative Rules Part 1800.3910 subp. 2. and 3.].
