The Wisconsin Administrative Code is the official source of all rules, standards, and guidelines that govern the operation of state agencies and programs. The rules are organized by subject matter and are updated regularly to reflect changes in state law and policy. The Code is divided into volumes, with each volume covering a specific area of government activity. The rules are written in a clear and straightforward manner, making it easy for citizens and businesses to understand how the state operates.

The Code is available online through the Wisconsin Legislature's website. Visitors can search for specific rules using keywords or browse by subject matter. The Code is also available in print and can be purchased from the state government's bookstore.

The Code is an essential resource for anyone who needs to understand how state government operates. It provides the legal basis for the rules and standards that govern the state's activities, and it is an important tool for ensuring that the state government operates in a transparent and accountable manner.
